

JULIE ANN SULLIVAN

YOUR CATALYST
OF CULTURE

BIO

Julie Ann Sullivan, Catalyst of Culture, works with companies to catapult their success through improved communication, creativity and compassion. The result is accelerated business growth.

Julie Ann Sullivan's diverse background gives her a unique business perspective. She earned a BA in Psychology and an MBA in Accounting, earning the designation of CPA and spent decades involved in accounting and business functionality. In addition, Julie Ann is an expert level Certified Laughter Leader and trainer.

Julie Ann is also an international best-selling author. In the 2018 release of her book, Blueprint for Employee Engagement, 37 Essential Elements to Influence, Innovate and Inspire, she created a roadmap for the complex journey to create a best place to work. Her newest book, Catalysts of Culture – How Visionary Leaders Activate the Employee Experience, is based on her extensive research, experience, and interviews with C-Suite leaders on her podcast, Businesses that Care.

Julie Ann has taught at Robert Morris, Duquesne, and Washington & Jefferson Universities. As a Professional Speaker, she has worked with companies such as, McDonald's USA, Howard Hanna Financial, Highmark and Bayer, US. She is known for her expertise, innovation, humor and engaging her clients. Culture consulting and leadership coaching allow Julie Ann the ability to deep dive into an organization's daily environment

Julie Ann lives in Pittsburgh, PA with her Wonder Dog, Joy.